

Retina Surgeon Opportunity

Our ideal candidate is:

Board-eligible or certified

Fellowship-trained with x surgical skills

Interested in clinical studies

Assertive but compassionate

One who strives to deliver the highest quality, ethical care

Virginia Eye Consultants is a busy, well established group of ophthalmologists, complemented by a staff of eye care professionals to provide multi-specialty services to the greater Hampton Roads area and surrounding communities. We are searching for a fellowship trained Retina Surgeon, with exceptional surgical skills and the talent to develop and maintain excellent relationships with our referring physicians, as well as functioning comfortably with clinical and surgical demand. We have immediate patient volumes combined with an established referral base to create an exceptional opportunity.

Virginia Eye Consultants is part of CVP Physicians — a premier eye care network positioned for market and thought leadership in the industry. The role offers the opportunity to become part of a rapidly growing team operating in all major ophthalmology subspecialties around a single vision for transformative eye care. We foster an innovative work environment that encourages research and education while leveraging the latest technologies to deliver next-generation patient care. This is a shareholder track position with a competitive base and bonus opportunity, generous benefit package, enviable call schedule, in a family friendly coastal community with an excellent standard of living. In addition, several of our physicians maintain a teaching affiliation with Eastern Virginia Medical School's residency program based in Norfolk.

The greater Norfolk area is surrounded by many miles of coastline, plentiful waterways-every boaters dream. This family friendly, historically rich community features top ranked schools, both public and private, including several "Governor's Award for Educational Excellence" award winners. Old Dominion University is here, as well as Norfolk State University. Tidewater Community College, Hampton University, Virginia Wesleyan, and Christopher Newport University are all within the area as well. This area offers a wealth of community activities and is home to the largest naval base in the world as a strategic military and transport point. The neighboring Virginia Beach community offers one of the longest pleasure beaches in the world hosting both world class surfing and soccer events along with exceptional fine dining and cultural arts.

Please contact Toni Wheeler at (513) 569-3117 or twheeler@cvphealth.com for more information about this extraordinary practice opportunity.
